There are addresses, and then there are statements. The Palms at Ocean Reef Islands is the latter — a private island sanctuary set against the open Pacific, where every sunrise arrives over open water and every evening ends by firelight with the ocean breeze at your back. This two-bedroom, two-and-a-half-bathroom residence places you at the intersection of untouched nature and refined living. Step onto your oceanfront deck and feel the distance between you and the ordinary grow. Within the residence, every surface, every detail, every view has been considered with one purpose: to make you never want to leave. Beyond your private retreat, The Palms wraps you in a world-class collection of amenities — from the swim-up pool bar and chef's table to the wellness sanctuary and The Lookout Observation Deck. The island itself extends your world further: a private marina, yacht club, tennis and squash courts, and direct beach access, all within a community built for those who expect more from where they live.
