Rambutan was built for people who know the difference. Eight bedrooms, every one a king. Every room is air conditioned, including the dining room. Natural Cristallo quartzite surfaces throughout — the highest grade of Brazilian quartzite available. Not granite. Not quartz composite. Not marble. A KitchenAid chef stove, dual 27 cu. ft. refrigerators, and a 50m² laundry room with dual high-capacity washers and dryers. Every system in the house — electrical, plumbing, mechanical — was engineered to American standards from the ground up, with the expertise and attention to detail that genuine luxury requires and that very few properties in this area can claim. Nearly every shower opens to a floor-to-ceiling picture window framing jungle, ocean, or mountain — a level of customization that reflects the same deliberate thinking found in every corner of the house. Every shower has a 40cm rain head and a wand. Every bedroom is en suite, all except one with double vanities, and all are generously proportioned. The family room configuration creates a natural, self-contained zone for families &
